JENNIFER GENNACE, creative mastermind and co-owner of IANNECI

Jennifer is the creative mastermind behind the design aesthetic of IANNECI and pulls inspirations from various shapes and silhouettes to create jewelry designs. Gennace received her bachelor's degree in Apparel Merchandising and Design and has an extensive background in jewelry development and production. Gennace has gained ground in traveling abroad to Italy, Paris, and London, where she studied elaborate beading techniques to bring to the IANNECI collection. She has also worked on independent projects such as collaborations with Fashion Designer, Lola Faturoti in New York City and FURIO Apparel in Chicago. KIMBERLY GENNACE, business mastermind and co-owner of IANNECI

Kimberly is an entrepreneur by nature and loves pushing the envelope to market IANNECI in non-conventional ways. Gennace surrounds herself with creative opportunities as she has experience at Henri Bendel's in window-dressing, managed an Israeli design collective, and studied trend research in New York City. Kimberly's current project involves working with the FURIO Apparel team as she leads them in brand identity and a jewelry collaboration with IANNECI.
